

About Reporting Sexual Abuse of Minors

- Reports are received either directly from an alleged victim or through a third-party (e.g., attorney, relative, counselor, etc.).
- The alleged victim may be alive or deceased. The alleged perpetrator may be alive or deceased. The statute of limitations may be an issue regarding litigation in certain cases.
- An alleged victim can pursue the matter or just report it and take no other action.
- The alleged victim may remain anonymous, but this may limit the ability of the diocese to respond satisfactorily.
- Both alleged abusers and alleged victims have rights and obligations (see elsewhere on this website).
- All information received will be treated with confidentiality.
- All alleged victims are advised of their right to report the alleged abuse to public authorities.
